Tropical Medicine, and to excite in them such a practical interest in that institution as will render possible an extension of its activities. It may be well, however, to give some account of the arguments he may be expected to use. The school was founded in 1899 in consequence of an appeal made by Mr Chamberlain to the governors of the Seamen's Hospital at Greenwich. The berlain presided, the enormous sum of £16,000 was subscribed. From the moterms of three months in the school year, and, since only fully-qualified men are, admitted, one term suffices to impartathe at large. Already two of them, settling in | died ; I am absolutely sure of that. Now, the Campagna, have proved that malaria cases of that sort occur much more fremay be avoided if certain simple precau- quently than people suppose? tions are taken, even in those places where it has hitherto been looked on as one of the essential conditions of residence in the neighbourhood. Another two went out to Brazil to study the cause of yellow fever, and both contracted the disease. One of them, Dr. Myers, died. The other, having recovered, has gone back to his chosen work. Not long ago it was extremely dangerous for Europeans to live in Calcutta; now, because of the adoption of proper sanitary methods, the situation has been entirely changed, and changes equally startling can be made in other regions and made quickly. For example, the Island of Barbados has acquired an evil reputation because its inhabitants are peculiarly subject to that most louthsome of diseases, elephantiasis, which is known to be caused by a parasite communicated to the blood by mosquito-bite. Dr Patrick Manson, F.R.S., lately declared that it would be quite possible to stamp out the disease in the island within the course of a single generation if only there were a sufficient number of men on the spot to secure the adoption of the precautions known to be fatal to its propagation. It is therefore surely a lamontable thing that the institution from which such men are sent out into the world should be hampered

DIFFICULTY OF LIAGNOSIS.

Dr Manson has insisted very strongly and on several occasions, on the need of this training for men who are to practise in the Tropics. The untrained man who goes out to those regions with iffst the knowledge that he would take to an ordinary English practice, has to gain his experience at the expense of the death-rate, and even so there is the possibility that he will acquire only an incomplete knowledge. The story is told of one such man who worked in malarial district for ave years. Then he heard of Dr Manson's discovery of the parasite, and for the remaining four years." of his sojourn in these parts he was constantly examining the blood of patients. Yet, with all his efforts, he never could detect the parasite, which immediately became evident when he returned to England and visited the school, where he was able to study under the instruction of trained observers. It must be evident to all that the most observant person in the world this kind if he starts without the help that have made the subject their life-study. familiar with the symptoms of the diseases from which they suffered, though in half the world they are exceedingly common. to have a slight attack of lever, and was again, given a sedative. It may be well to quote in full the account of one such case in the words used by Dr remedy that will form new and healthy Manson himself, when it had been insimuat ed that he was inclined to exaggerate the dangers of a wrong diagnosis :

student has started something of the kind at Haslar, but patients never reach him until they have been treated by doctors, often during a considerable period. The consequence is that they never display the symptoms of the disease from which they suffer as they would had they not been treated. Even a few doses of quinine may effect in some instances a great change. At the London School of Tropical Medicinethe patients come in direct from the shipson which they have fallen ill, so that the man who is going out presently to the regions where these diseases are common sees them here exactly as he will see them there, and so he leaves this country already a man of wide experience. Whether be goes out on some such expedition as that in which Dr Myers laid down his life in the the cause of science, or simply to practise as a doctor, and thereby make a living, he cannot fail to do good service to the race, for in both cases he is bound to gain new knowledge as to the nature of diseases which, though now they are terrible, may presently be made to disappear from the face of the earth. The London School is at present just about paying its way, but it cannot do the work it might because the extension that is demanded is impossible without additional funds. These are needed in order that more men may be trained to go to regions now practically uninhabitable, combating the scourges of which the cause is already understood, and, incidentally-or, in some instances, as the sole result of their devoted labours-discovering other secrets, the knowledge of which will enable all who come after them in the same field to work with a vastly increased efficiency and confidence. The Bangkok Times of the 25th ult. reports :-- There was a rather serious affray on board the s.s. Taifu yesterday afternoon between a Customs guard and the European officers of the ship. From the information to hand it would appear that the guards were being relieved at 5 p.m., and first officer, Mr G. May-so it is allegedfor some reason or other struck one of the guards, who fell upon the deck. He, however, got up and 'went for' the officer with his fists, when the other Europeans on board seeing what was happening went to the officer's aid. Thereupon the guard is said to have drawn a deh, and to have stabbed the officer several times in the region of the heart. He was then over powered, and the knife taken from him. This is only one side of the story; perhaps the officers have another version. believe the injuries are not serious.

The deceased, who was a native of Liverpool, was only 31 years of age and was very popular with the ship's company. He leaves a young wife behind with whom The Secretary of the Treasury, Baron great sympathy is felt. The funeral took place yesterday morning at the Roman Catholic cemetery, and was attended by many members of the European community. The ships in port had their flags flying at half-mast out of respect for the deceased. One of the officers on board the Ibedan was also seized with cholera early last week, but forthnately recovered. Two other deaths from cholera on Saturday are reported from the Windmill-road district, the victims being a British Indian and an Eurasian.

CANTON NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A NEW SCHOOL CANTON, December 9. The educational activity that is in other parts of China is not wholly unknown in these two Southern Provinces, but it is comparatively weak, and, moreover, it has taken a form which will tend to defeat the end in viow. It is practically impossible for Chinese education and western education to proceed side by side. I do not refer to a workable knowledge of Chinese, but the making of what the Chinese would call a scholar. Western education is equally imperious in its demand. 'All or none' to gain such a knowledge as would be worthy of the name of education.

This new school society has the Viceroy of the Two Kwang for its president. He is supported by a long list of mandarins and gentry. The present plan is to establish two schools, one in Hongkong and the other in Canton. These schools are called 'Nourishing Talent Schools'-a name, by the bye, which has been in use for the last five years by a successful Anglo-Chinese School in the west-end of this city. It is the intention of the directors that the pupils shall divide their time between Chinese and western studies. This is not the first time that the Chinese have attempted this compromise only to find that it is an impossible combination when taken seriously, It is not a little disappointing to find the, Canton Province, which has hitherto been in the van of progress, taking up so retrograde a position. There are cities by the score in the most conservative parts of China where the gentry and literati have frankly acknowledged that Chinese so-called edu cation must now give way to the newer and better methods of the Western world. Evidently other influences have been at work there, whose potency to say the least has not yet affected a change in Canton. But surely Canton is not going to lag behind in the race. I notice one good point in the constitution— Boys of all classes, poor and rich, are equally welcome. Talent is to be sought and cultivated irrespective of ratk. We shall watch with the kindliest interest this latest venture. BUNDS AND CONCESSIONS.

The schemes of foreign nations to obtain new concessions and extend those already existing in this city is being freely discussed in the yamens. More is known than these men are willing to toll. But this knowledge is not confined to yamens; it is According to the memorial accompanying being freely discussed in city and country. The serious losses of the hundreds of people who were dispossessed to make way for the Legations in Peking are well known, as every man reads his newspaper nowadays. The longer the delay in the settlement the more difficult it will be in the end, as it gives time for rumours to run to and frogathering in force and virulence as they pass from mouth to mouth. In the meantime, one bad result is noticeable - men are delaying going on with buildings on the Honam side of Canton, and, indeed, all

CHARGE OF BIGAMY. Proceedings at Magistracy To-

At the Magistracy, to-day, before Mr F. A. Hazeland, Police Magistrate, Froderick Gilbert Hanson, was charged with with the crime bignmy. Since he was first brought before the Court on the 29th uit., he has grown a beard, and has thus alteredhis appearance. It is alleged that he married a Portugue e girl named Lucas whilst his former wife Minnie Hanson, was still alive and resident in England, the second marriage taking place at the Registrar's Office, at the Supreme Court, on 1st December, 1900.

The defendant pleaded not guilty, and was represented by Mr F. B. Deacon, solicitor, whilst Mr F. B. L. Bowley, Crown Solicitor! presented.

J. Dyer Ball said he was Acting Assistant Registrar General and Deputy Registrar of marriages. He had charge of the records in the Registrar General's Office relating to marriages. The preduction marked A was an affidavit made by the defendant on 30th November, 1960, and sworn before Mr P. P. J. Wodehiouse, also a Deputy Registrar . of Marriages. Exhibit B was a marriage · certificate from the records of the Registrar General. Mr Wodehouse was now absent from the Colony.

CHINA COTTON MILLS AND THE NEW TARIFF.

It is well known that many of the English houses are directly interested financially in the cotton mills established in recent years. These enterprises have so far proved very disappointing to the shareholders. A combination of all the mills in China, those owned by natives as well as those owned by British and other foreign capitalists, has been suggested as a possible remedy for the situation; but such a combination of native and foreign mills does not seem practicable. And it is pointed out that, even if it could be effected, the combination would only be able to control the production, sales, and prices of the yarn, and not the prices of raw cotton, so long as the supply of cotton grown in China is not equal to the demand for the China mills. The high price of material is, however, said to be the main if not the sole cause of the financial difficulties of these enterprises. Large overdrafts, involving heavy interest charges, are ncurred, because from nme to twelve | Holberton, both of the 2nd Manchester months' consumption of China-grown cotton must be secured at beginning of the season, in order to avoid the risk of the staple trade being exported to Japan or even to Europe and the mills in China itself being consequently left without supplies. November 21. —Though there is indignaion in Germany at the computison of the conduct of the South African and of the Franco-Gerinan wars it is manifestly largely due to popular belief in pro-Boer stories of British atrocities.

The semi-official Nord Deutsche Zeitung, hitherto silent in commenting on Mr. Chamberlain's letter, describes the agitation as a justifiable resentment of inconsiderate and offensive words spoken at Edinburgh; and adds that the letter tones down the speech, but that Mr. Chamberlain's astonishment at German sensitiveness remains unjustified. The German Army's reputation for discipline, humanity, and valour is incapable of being affected by false and misplaced

IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD .- We have seen hosts of letters from people who have received courage native industries by removing great benefit from the use of Clarke's Blood Mixture. It cannot be too highly estimated. for it cleanses and clears the blood from all imnurities. This is a good testimonial from the Pamily Doctor, which goes on further to say It is the finest Blood Purifier that science and not be imposed on cotton yarns with the skill have brought to light, and we can with the utmost confidence recommend it to our subscribers and the public generally. For Scrolula. Senry, Ecsems, Bad Legs, Skin and Blood Diseases, Pimples and Scres of all kinds, its effects are marrellous. Phonsands of wonderful oures have been effected by it. Clarice's Blood Mixture is sold everywhere, at 2s. 9d. per bottle. Reware of worthiese imitations and substitutes.
